The University Grants Commission recognized the University under section 2(f) in 1998 and section 12(B) in 2006; and Distance Education Council, (New Delhi) in 2008.

The cherished objective of the University is to develop integration among the Dravidian languages with different sub-groups and sects, so far enumerated as belonging to Dravidian languages. Only four of them are well developed with scripts and historical legacies. Among the rest, Tulu has considerable socio-economic advancement. The rest of the languages do not have a written tradition, though they have a rich oral tradition.

They are often categorized as ‘tribes’, some of them as ‘primitive tribes’ far away from the modern developments in scientific, technological and socio-economic areas.

The richness of their knowledge and wealth of wisdom, which stand above all scripts and tongues, forming part of the glittering glory of the nation, have to be revitalized. In order to fulfill such cherished objectives, the Dravidian University was Established.

The Specific Objectives of the University are:

1. To promote National Integration.
2. To work for an integrated development of Dravidian languages.
3. To promote Dravidian languages, culture and literature with an indigenous thrust.
4. To take up extension activities with an emphasis on rural development.
